Excerpt: .co-operative estates and without. If we did not sell something of our produce, we should not be able to purchase articles of foreign growth; we should not be able to purchase, for example, tea, coffee, petroleum, and oranges, if we were not permitted first to sell some of our poultry. With these exceptions we should not need to have exchanges, and should be self-contained communities for the relief of the unemployed. We need not begin to sell shoes or woven goods, or anything of ordinary English manufacture; we need sell nothing but wheat (which is rapidly going out of cultivation in England), and fresh eggs (which cannot be obtained for love or money in most of our large towns), and poultry (which are imported from France in large numbers). It may, however, be worth while to give a more extended list of our imports, which,...
