Preview: Ezekiel was far away from his land, living in the hostile country in poverty. On a clear summer day, he was walking alone and reflecting. He was agonizing over the future of Jerusalem. Suddenly he heard the sound of thunder. Huge storm was approaching from the north. Ezekiel was hypnotized by it and kept looking at it. He was taken aback, because the storm was coming directly at him. This was when inside the storm he saw the celestial chariot of Creator. It was made of fire and had wheels that were burning fire. On top of it was something that looked like an amazing throne with colors of rainbow emanating from it. On the throne, the likeness of the glory of the Creator was sitting. One can only imagine the shock of Ezekiel. He was astonished and shaken. Feelings of honor and excitement flooded over him. He immediately prostrated himself on the ground. He was shaking and didn't dare to move a muscle. He felt that spirit of Creator took control of his body. Ezekiel was shocked but at peace with himself. He could no longer hear the sound of thunder. Suddenly he heard a voice talking inside his head. The voice said, Son of man, I want to send you to the nation of Israel to give them my message. They are a rebellious nation that reverted to the idol worship and injustice. Creator stood Ezekiel to his feet like a dummy, and said, I am sending you as a messenger. I want you to tell them: So said the Lord. As Ezekiel...
